NOTES AND COMMENTS.

THE Bulletin of Thursday intimates that the ADVERTISER has suppressed a part of the correspondence between Dr. Trousseau and the board of health relating to his resignation. This we positively deny. We claim that the report published in Thursday's ADVERTISER was a full report of all matters that came before the meeting. If there was any correspondence that passed between the board of health and Dr. Trousseau other than published relating to his resignation it was not presented at the meeting referred to in the hearing of the representative of the ADVERTISER, who was the last person to leave the room on the adjournment of the board. The criticism of the Bulletin is a reflection on the honesty and integrity of the ADVERTISER as a reporter of public news, and as such merits notice. Had the Daily Bulletin displayed the ordinary enterprise of a public journal it would have had a representative present at the meeting in question, and would have avoided falling into the ridiculous blunder it is now responsible for. A laggard in journalism it has proved itself foolish in criticism, as it has been a failure in popular politics. Dr. Trousseau is well aware that this paper would not do him an injustice, either as a man or a politician, should he assume the latter role. The assumption that he has assumed this part rests entirely with the Bulletin. We have the highest respect for Dr. Trousseau and wish to assure him that in spite of the efforts of a partisan newspaper, whose interest it is to misrepresent the clear facts of a public meeting of the board of health, the proceedings as produced there have been faithfully reproduced in the ADVERTISER. If there are further facts connected with his resignation we shall be happy to publish them at his earliest convenience. From the expressions of opinion disclosed in the meeting of the board referred to, we believe no relevant matter relating to his resignation was suppressed by the board, several members of that body expressing their regret that he had sent in his resignation. If any responsibility is to be shouldered in this matter, we wish it distinctly understood that it must not rest with the ADVERTISER. We have faithfully and sincerely carried out our functions as a public newspaper without coloring the report in favor of either political party. We wish we could say this much for our contemporary, the Bulletin, in its late record in dealing with public reports.

AN ADVERTISER reporter called on United States Consul-General Severance Thursday, who, in reply to a question stated that he had not received any communication from Washington bearing on the Hawaiian question. Admiral Skerrett was also spoken to and said he had received notification from the secretary of the navy informing him that he was the naval representative of the United States in Hawaii, but that he was not charged with any diplomatic functions whatever. Both these statements entirely agree with the information furnished by Minister Blount to representatives of the local and foreign press before his departure. The dispatches which state that Minister Blount still represents the United States in Hawaii are, therefore, confirmed.

The royalist cause in Hawaii has reached low water mark. The bluff and brag of the ex-queen's adherents prominent for several months past seems to have evaporated through the exercise of their vocal organs. It is not to be understood that the public has mistaken the claims put forth by the leaders of the royalist or "lost cause" movement. Coming events have cast their shadows before and the real backers of the ex-queen's cause have already virtually withdrawn from the fight, as far as the sinews of war—gold coin—is concerned. There are rumors galore that the journals which have been loudest in royalist brag have had the least financial backing to their arguments. These rumors are not unfounded. The different persons of former degree back of the royalist party have already issued orders that there is no need of pursuing the lost cause further. That it is already a failure is admitted on all hands. No more money is likely to be put up by those who have thus far deceived themselves and their adherents by promises that the United States would ultimately restore the ex-queen to the throne, to the detriment of the American colony in Hawaii. The fact is that no more money seems to be in sight for royalist campaign purposes, and it is doubtful if the few moneyed men on that side will allow themselves to be made the bankers of an uncertain and unprofitable cause.

The Holomua newspaper is already defunct, and although it is rumored on the streets that a new edition of the old sheet will be issued during next week from the Elele office, it is not generally believed the scheme will permanently materialize. It is further understood that the new enterprise is based upon the supposition that the days of that staunch royalist journal, the Bulletin, are numbered. Be this as it may, it is pretty well understood there is no love lost between the royalist newspapers mentioned, owing to the literary and journalistic aspirations of the various editors of the half-white sheet to control the Canadian relic of the national reform party "what was," as Samuel Weller would say. It is said that such cross purposes should develop themselves on account of the lack of a little money in the journalistic ranks of the ex-queen's needy followers—but then the fact must be kept in view that even the ex-queen has tumbled to the unlimited need of quarters and half-dollars among her crowd of alleged patriots, and that she has closed her purse with a decisive snap in the interest of the political economy of ex-royalty.

We are glad to see that our fading evening contemporary is able to correct an injustice done this journal through political pique. There was no excuse for the blunder in the first place, which was of a kind that no newspaper except the Bulletin would have committed. The confession that that paper does not send a reporter to public meetings because it cannot print the report until the next day, is exactly on a plane with the ability and enterprise of the daily Bulletin. This reminds us, though we can hardly tell, that the resonant cheek, displayed by the luckless scribes of our moribund contemporary, is pretty much of the same quality as the editorial brass lately displayed in that journal by the "adventurous" remnant of the national reform party. The issue now before the Hawaiian public is one of "American vs. anti-American," as was pointedly put a few days since by a prominent royalist on Merchant street. So it is; it is American and anti-American—the local Canadian, Englishman, half-white and Australian do not count in the present political fight, where the taxpayers and the United States are to be consulted.

The late royalist flood of irresponsible correspondence has little force in the present national issue and its settlement. Why should it? They are mostly Europeans, and always anti-Americans. They hate the proposition for annexation, but they hate the fluttering of the stars and stripes more, perhaps, than the "missionaries" they love to revile, as the foremost representatatives of the American party in Hawaii. There is not one of the treacherous non-American royalists referred to dares sign his name to any anti-annexationist communication published in the opposition newspapers of Honolulu. The public has often read the signatures of those who wish to convey the impression that they are Americans supporting the royalist cause; in most instances these communications are signed by men who are either Europeans and anti-Americans or have been written to order by the hangers-on in saloons under anti-American control. It is unfortunate that one or two Americans, so-called; in the employ of these anti-American firms are lending their influence to the fight being made against American control in Hawaii. That their influence is small and their ability less is no excuse for their present action: it is safe to say that these gentlemen will be falling over each other to secure a political standing in the new parties which must necessarily spring into existence under the coming new order of affairs on these islands.

The fiat which went forth with the report of Minister Blount was to the effect and purpose that American interests must hereafter take precedence in Hawaii. The political hula kui of Kalakaua and Liliuokalani has been replaced by the emphatic tread of western civilization, and the licentious rule of these sovereigns has been blotted out by such manly figures as Sanford B. Dole, Francis M. Hatch and Samuel M. Damon. The public wish is that the disgraced monarchy may be allowed to rest in peace under the sod of its own iniquities.

CLEVELAND HONORED.

A Far Fetched Misconstruction by the Bulletin.

The Friend said, "President Dole is taking a little vacation in order to recuperate, although not like President Cleveland, absenting himself from any critical juncture of affairs at the seat of government."

The Bulletin professes to find in that language a sneer at the president of the United States. It does not seem likely that the Friend would take this particular time to sneer at the arbiter of Hawaiian interests.

The sentence quoted was meant especially to intimate that Mr. Dole's indisposition was not at all a serious one such as Mr. Cleveland's was supposed to be, which compelled him to absent himself in a time of great trouble. It implies a sense that the malady of the latter must have been very grave to compel his absence at such a time, and is so far an expression of sympathy for Mr. Cleveland.

Although not of his political party, I hold President Cleveland in very high esteem, and should regard his disability at this time as a great calamity to America and also to Hawaii.

Spreckels' Fast Mare.

It is the unexpected which always happens. At the beginning of the season all eyes were turned on Nancy Hanks, 2:04; Martha Wilkes, 2:08, and Belle Vara, 2:08½. One of these three mares was expected to cut the record. Up to the present time Nancy Hanks and Belle Vara have done nothing, and Martha Wilkes' recent performances show that she is off her speed. On August 3d, at Buffalo, N. Y., a new candidate for champion honors appeared. In the 2:15 trotting class the bay mare Hulda won the third heat in 2:08½. This is a quarter of a second behind Martha Wilkes' performance at Evansville, Ind., but on a comparison of the races is a far better one. Martha Wilkes' three heats were 2:18, 2:18 and 2:08½. Hulda's three heats at Buffalo, N. Y., on August 4, were 2:12½, 2:10½ and 2:08½. This makes her a very dangerous competitor for both the race and time records. Hulda is only five years old, and is by Guy Wilkes, dam Jenny, by Bull Pup, and is owned by A. B. Spreckels, of San Francisco, Cal. —Ex.

Mrs. F. M. Hatch, wife of Acting-President Hatch, is booked to leave by the Australia next Wednesday.

Y. M. C. A. MATTERS

A BOY'S BRANCH OF THE ASSOCIATION DECIDED ON.

Evening Commercial Classes to be Taught.

The monthly meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association was held Thursday. A fair attendance was present. The report of the general secretary showed that the work for the coming winter would include a boy's branch, in connection with which the following report was presented to the association, and which will be acted upon at the next monthly meeting:

The committee appointed at your last monthly meeting, on August 3d, beg to report having met, and, after deliberation, would suggest the formation of a boy's branch, and that the following article be added to the by-laws of the association:

ARTICLE.

SECTION 1. The management of the junior department shall be vested in a committee to be nominated by the president, and appointed by the board of directors. The president also shall name the chairman.

SEC. 2. Membership—Any boy between the age of eleven (11) and seventeen (17) may become an associate member of the junior department upon furnishing satisfactory references as to character, and paying to the treasurer of the association the sum of one dollar per annum in advance. If the applicant is a member in good standing of a Protestant Evangelical church his name may be submitted to the committee of membership of the association for election to active membership in the department. Only active members shall be eligible to appointment on the managing committee.

SEC. 3. At the first meeting of this committee they shall elect a secretary and appoint the following sub-committees: The membership, the religious work committee, the reception and entertainment committee, the library committee, the outing committee, and, with the consent of the board of directors, such other sub-committees as may be deemed necessary.

SEC. 4. This committee shall see that no expenses are incurred by this department in excess of any appropriation which shall be made by the board of directors, and shall see that no funds are solicited without the approval of the board.

SEC. 5. The committee shall also have power to make and enforce rules for the conduct of members and visitors to their rooms, and may suspend any member of the department, who, in their judgment, is a detriment to the department.

SEC. 6. This committee shall present a written report at each monthly meeting of the board of directors, with the exception of the summer vacation, and shall present an annual report immediately after March 31st.

SEC. 7. The president and the general secretary of the association shall be members ex-officio of all committees of the department.

Membership in the junior department entitles to the use of boy's room, when opened; the circulating library and literature; attendance at the boy's entertainment and lectures, and participation in the outings and other sports.

The association is planning to conduct evening classes in a commercial line, such as shorthand, bookkeeping and commercial arithmetic.

The entertainment committee are planning a monthly concert. A paid concert on behalf of the Y. M. C. A. library will be held on Saturday evening, the 30th inst. The programme will be presented by the Glee Club, recently organized, and under the leadership of Mr. Wakefield.

David Keilipio was received as an active member, and Wm. R. Nichol as an associate member.

Hawaiians Abroad.

J. K. Burkett, of Koloa, in the island of Kauai, one of the Hawaiian group, was in South Riverside, Monday and Tuesday with his friend T. H. Gibson, who lives at Waimea, Kauai. Mr. Burkett owns a ten-acre orange grove on Fullerton avenue, South Riverside which was planted three years ago last June, and a ten-acre grove two years old at Arlington. The Bee says: "He found his property in good condition, and was very much pleased with the progress the colony has made. He is now on his way East for a visit to relatives and the World's Fair. Mr. Burkett says that he intends to build on his ten acres, and make his home here in about two years, when his orchard should be in good bearing. Mr. Gibson will also make his home here when his place has attained sufficient age to bring in a good revenue. Both gentlemen will make good citizens, and they will be made most heartily welcome to the Queen Colony."—Riverside Reflex, Aug. 26.

THE CREDIT SYSTEM.

A Business Man Expresses His Views on the Benefit of a Cash Basis.

MR. EDITOR: Fresh in the minds of the readers of the ADVERTISER is an agreement of the business houses of Honolulu to establish as near as possible a monthly system of credit. The idea, as the writer understood it, was not that the bookkeepers should "get off a balance sheet" monthly, but that the public be required to do their share in maintaining the credit of Honolulu by paying their accounts more promptly, thereby keeping in force the greatest commodity in business circles, namely, confidence.

If, for instance, by the carelessness of some dealer in merchandise, his customers fail to pay promptly for what they "absolutely require," the dealer is obliged to close up and pays 50 cents on the dollar. The people of Honolulu are very shortsighted if they think the crash does not affect the community at large; and any dealer who supplies on six and nine months time luxuries to those who cannot afford them, does no friendly act and deserves only to be obliged to meet the inevitable crisis.

In the past, several men of money in Honolulu have seen fit to do business on long time, with margin enough on their sales to cover the investment of nearly double, in some cases, and more than three times in others, the amount of capital that would be required to carry on a trade proportionate, on a cash basis. It is easy to predict that dealers for cash can offer, and buyers will see fit to save the difference which cannot be disputed, that exists between "time" and "cash."

Now, one who did not fall in with the enthusiasm at the time referred to, wishes to assert as a fact, that the firms and their employees have shown very little "backbone" with their new plan. Consequently, men of principle pay their bills as ever, which keeps some money in circulation; but the "poor pay" and "good, but slow" still rule, and the men who lack business courage go about croaking "hard times."

Then let there be a revival of the good intentions, and any customer or patron who does not fall in with the idea that he is to pay more promptly, as his share of business advancement, will soon find few who are anxious for his trade, and collectors won't go about with long faces, for a good test will show that

"Don't Kill the Birds."

MR. EDITOR: There has been considerable argument indulged in amongst prominent local sportsmen relative to the time at which the close season for pheasant-shooting is now being ended. The consensus of opinion is that the season for pheasant-shooting opens too early. In support of that side of the case, I, through the medium of your widely-circulated and greatly-read journal, desire to bring to general notice the fact that the same question is agitating fellow-sportsmen in Oregon, as may be seen by the following clipping from the Pacific Field Sports of August 26:

"It is admitted by all that the Oregon game law goes out of effect just one month too early for pheasants. An Albany gentleman was in Portland the other day, and, while there, he saw a string of over twenty young China pheasants, not one of which was any larger than a robin. No man has the true elements of an honorable hunter who will kill such birds; and if he hasn't sense enough not to do it, the law should instruct him."

Personally, I am strongly in favor of such legislation as will compel a close season until October 1st of each year.

Respectfully,
W. M. CUNNINGHAM.

Japanese Immigrants Sent Back.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 23.—On Sunday last the steamship Walla Walla arrived here, bringing fifty-nine Japanese passengers from Victoria, B. C. The immigration commissioners, who have been examining them, decided yesterday that ten are actors and will be allowed to land, while the remaining forty-nine are contract laborers and will be sent back.
